

PRIVATE COUNSEL TO SOVEREIGNS & STATES

SOVEREIGN ADVISORY & STATECRAFT

THE SERVICE COMPENDIUM

STATE-LEVEL STRATEGIC COUNSEL

Privy Consul operates as a private embassy — advising sovereigns, governments, and states on the architecture of power, reputation, and transformation.

We do not advise from the fantasy that order is designed. We advise from the reality that power operates inside orders it neither authored nor commands. Statecraft, properly understood, begins not with control but with restraint, interpretation, and timing.

Our counsel is delivered at the level of the principal and held to the discretion of a private office. We carry no domestic constituency, no public profile to protect, and no interest other than the durable success of those we serve. That independence is not incidental to the work — it is the source of its value.

What follows is a compendium of the counsel we provide: five disciplines, one standard. Each is offered quietly, by introduction, to a limited number of principals for whom the cost of imprecision is measured in sovereignty itself.

Sovereign Transformation & Institutional Advisory

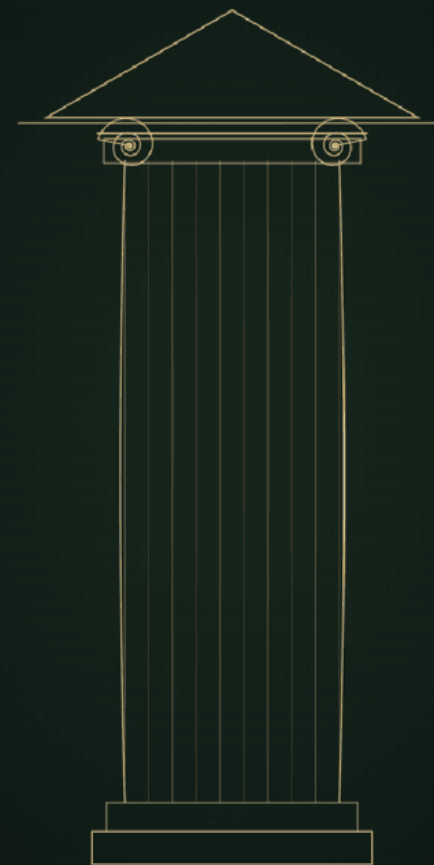

Sovereign growth models, nations in transformation, and macroeconomic and public-policy counsel.

We advise countries in transformation on the implementation of their economic, political, and social development strategies — and the capital frameworks that make that transformation investable before the moment of maximum readiness passes.

Countries in transformation rarely lack direction. What they lack is the mechanism to move faster than their own institutional processes allow — and a trusted external party with no domestic constituency to satisfy, no re-election to consider, and no interest other than the durable success of the sovereign itself.

Privy Consul occupies that position: counsel at the level of the principal, delivered with the discretion of a private office and the rigour of an institution.

Diplomatic Strategy & Multilateral Relations

Positioning sovereigns within the international order — with coherence, credibility, and long-horizon intent.

We advise sovereigns in the organisation of their multilateral relations, their positioning within international institutions, and their engagement with states, alliances, and global forums.

Diplomatic positioning fails in one of three specific conditions: when an adversarial actor is deliberately disrupting the natural formation of alliances; when two parties need to coordinate but neither will move first without a trusted intermediary; and when a sovereign's true intent is sound but illegible to those it must persuade.

Our work is to render intent legible, to facilitate the dialogue under which alliances form, and to hold the long horizon when the pressures of the moment would counsel otherwise.

We render sovereign intent legible — and facilitate the dialogue under which alliances form.

Legal, Tax & Arbitration Coordination

An integrated legal strategy adapted to your global challenges — with tax, treaty, and arbitration in full alignment.

We bring together the finest advisors to develop an integrated legal strategy adapted to your global challenges. The use of international arbitration in the event of disputes, and the selection of the arbitration centre, form part of our counsel.

Capital flows into a jurisdiction before the legal structures exist to receive it properly. That gap — between the moment capital arrives and the moment a durable legal architecture is in place to direct it — is where value is quietly lost and exposure silently accumulates.

We close that gap: assembling treaty, tax, and arbitration counsel into a single coherent architecture, answerable to one strategic intent.

“Treaty, tax, and arbitration — assembled into a single architecture, answerable to one intent.”

CORE SERVICE 04

Public Diplomacy & Sovereign Reputation

State-facing communication and argument architecture in support of sovereign engagement.

Privy Consul stands at your side to establish a message and an image. We study your audience, prepare your communication, and distribute your message with precision and authority.

The sovereign communications that moved history did not introduce new ideas to their audiences. They named what the audience already felt but could not yet articulate — and in naming it with authority, made it legible, and therefore actionable.

Privy Consul designs sovereign communication to that standard: not louder, but truer; not persuasion by volume, but recognition by precision.

“ Not persuasion by volume — but recognition by precision.

CORE SERVICE 05

Discreet Diplomacy & Strategic Mediation

Back-channel conflict resolution, off-the-record negotiation, and discreet mediation between adversaries.

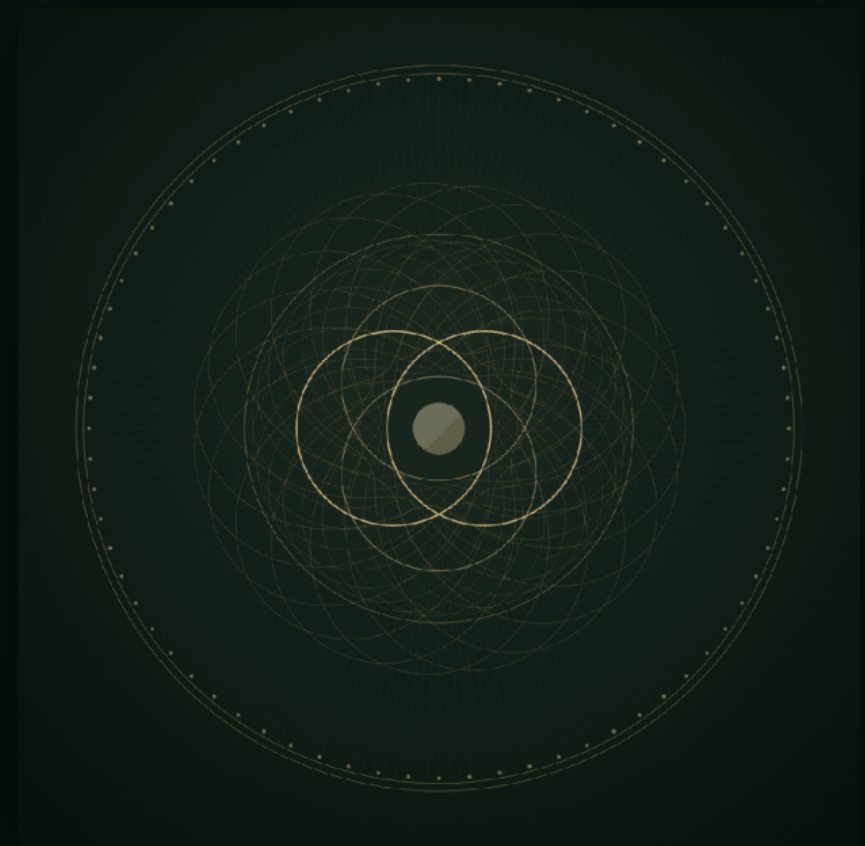

When formal diplomatic channels are exhausted, politically impossible, or strategically inadvisable, Privy Consul operates in the space between them.

The most consequential diplomatic movements in history have happened quietly, through intermediaries, before any public position was taken. Privy Consul serves as that intermediary — with no institutional agenda, no public profile to protect, and no constituency to satisfy other than the resolution itself.

Confidentiality is not a courtesy we extend. It is the structural precondition of the work.

How We Hold the Work

Five principles that govern every engagement.

I

Discretion as Structure

Confidentiality is not a courtesy we extend but the structural precondition of the work. No engagement is acknowledged; no principal is named.

II

Independence of Interest

We hold no domestic constituency and no public profile to protect. Our only interest is the durable success of the sovereign we serve.

III

Counsel at the Principal's Level

We advise the decision-maker directly. Our work is not delegated downward, nor diluted through the processes it is meant to move faster than.

IV

The Long Horizon

We hold the long view when the pressures of the moment would counsel otherwise. Position is built across years, not news cycles.

V

Precision over Volume

We do not persuade by volume. We name what is already true with such precision that it becomes legible, and therefore actionable.

VI

By Introduction Only

We accept a limited number of principals. Engagement begins with a private conversation, never an application — and proceeds only by mutual discretion.

An Introduction
